Other Experience

During my break from university, I dedicated my time to expanding my knowledge through additional learning and obtaining hands on experience. I completed the FrontEnd Masters Bootcamp, where I refreshed my understanding of HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. As part of this journey, I engaged in various projects to demonstrate my abilities. These projects involved developing a functional calculator, an interactive game, and more.

Personal Projects

The personal website I designed and created showcases projects completed during my tenure at RMIT University, as well as personal projects I have undertaken.
